No takers for Dasara Exhibition tenders

- Last year's flooding deters exhibitors to set up stalls
- Karnataka Exhibition Authority to repeat tender process

The flooded Dasara Exhibition Grounds last year.

Mysuru, Sept. 21 (MTY&BCT)- Third week of September 2017 saw unprecedented flooding of Srirampura and surrounding areas in city where roads were submerged, lakes breached and normal life was thrown out of gear. So much so that boats had to be used to vacate residents to safer areas.

One of the flooded areas was the Dasara Exhibition Grounds where most of the stalls were filled with water and the Amusement Park was almost submerged for days together. As a result, the Expo saw less footfalls and shopkeepers reported huge losses. Even the extension of dates did not help exhibitors make profits.

Is the flooding factor a deterrent this year for the exhibitors to set up stalls? Seems yes, as there are no takers for Exhibition tenders, forcing the Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) to repeat the tender process.

(See EXHIBITION TENDERS on page 8)

Roads, streets and lanes

The term road, any stretch that connects two points, thanks to the various parameters reckoned to describe its profile in our times, has acquired many avatars over time, beginning with its primordial identity lane (a narrow road, often in villages, still to be seen in Mysuru city's old residential parts). A public way, with buildings on both sides, threatening to spill into the walkway, falls into the class of roads called street. A road with trees and buildings on its either sides is described by the term avenue. A wide street in a city with trees or greenery on both sides, often with a median in the middle, is a boulevard. A winding road that has its route shaped by natural features such as a lake or hillock is called a driveway.

Mysuru region has stretches of all the aforementioned avatars of roads while the credit for creating avenues and boulevards in city that have endured for more than hundred years goes to the erstwhile kings and their chief administrators. Squares too have a long history in Mysuru while plazas are of recent origin. The dismal upkeep of virtually all types of stretches in Mysuru, mentioned above, leaving much to be desired, is hogging column-space of readers' views in this daily with the administration looking the other way.

While another exclusive space for commuting, namely footpath, is steadily losing its importance, all other kinds of stretches are thirsting for bigger width, every such project costing a bomb to the exchequer. The era of single-storeyed houses on sprawling sites and narrow roads and streets has become history, yielding place to times of high rise buildings and wide roads, lanes getting the axe of authorities.

Given the compulsions of life all over the globe, namely a) Network of roads connecting places near and far apart, b) Wider roads both within inhabited spaces such as towns and cities as well as between cities and villages, c) Highways, Expressways, Freeways (such as in the West) for speedy commutes, d) Large area parking lots for automobiles, e) Jumbo-sized airports to facilitate steadily rising number of air travellers, f) Expanding space needs for urban infrastructure (offices, schools, hospitals, dwellings, playgrounds, parks, community halls, malls and so on), successive governments are clueless on arresting the steadily and rapidly shrinking land area for growing food and establishing industries, the two limbs of country's economy.

Urbanites, having taken to commuting both within city limits and between cities using personal vehicles in preference to public transport to the point of choking all the streets and roads, can now be found blocking the space for walkers even in the lanes, as in Mysuru. We seem to be heading to the idiomatic expression All at seas in foreseeable future.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy' was an axiom Munnar's former British tea planters took seriously. They worked hard and played equally hard and ensured that their assistants — even if the latter weren't so inclined — followed suit. The fallout was sometimes amusing. One reluctant assistant was coerced into joining a wild pig shoot. When the hunt ended, his boss enquired if he'd bagged anything. The youngster shyly admitted that he'd killed a pig. "But I didn't hear a gunshot!" the boss snapped, perplexed. "Well, sir, a big boar came rushing towards me," the assistant explained nervously. "And not knowing how to work the bolt of the rifle you gave me, I clubbed it to death with the butt!" He was never asked to join a hunt again.

Man gets banned by restaurant for eating too much

Berlin: A young Ironman triathlete from Germany, was recently banned by an-all-you-can-eat Sushi restaurant for eating around 100 plates of food, something the owner considered "not normal" and very bad for business.

30-year-old Bobrowski works as a software engineer, but also trains for Ironman triathlons and is on a special diet where he doesn't eat anything for 20 hours a day and then eats until he is full.

Last weekend, he and his girlfriend stopped at the Running Sushi all-you-can-eat restaurant in Landshut, Bavaria, where he paid the fixed price of €15.90 and spent about an hour and a half stuffing himself with around 100 plates of sushi. At one point, waiters just stopped clearing his table of plates and when he finally finished, the former bodybuilder was told that he wasn't welcome anymore.

Artist creates portraits with millions of ink dots

Strasbourg: David Bayo, a self-taught artist from Strasbourg, France, has spent hundreds of hours carefully placing tiny ink dots on a white canvas to create incredibly detailed portraits.

Bayo starts off by drawing out the general layout of his portraits with fine pencil lines, and then proceeds to fill up that simple drawing with millions of tiny ink dots. It's a time consuming and laborious process, but the end result is always nothing short of awe-inspiring.

He first drew attention two years ago, with 'Bauhaus', a beautiful portrait made up of over one million dots, which took him about 90 hours to complete. Earlier this month, however, David Bayo made headlines once again, with an even more impressive project.

Bayo's latest stippled portrait took 300 hours to complete and consists of more than 3 million hand-placed ink dots.

Chemists to down shutters on Sept. 28

Bengaluru, Sept. 21 - Alleging loopholes in the draft regulations on e-pharmacies published by the Central government recently, the Karnataka Chemists and Druggists Association has called for a Statewide Pharmacy bandh on Sept. 28.

Over 20,000 chemists who are members of the Association will take part in the bandh by downing their shutters. There are 26,000 druggists in the State.

Stating that in the absence of stringent regulations, online transaction could lead to rampant sale of restricted drugs, A.K. Jeevan, General Secretary of the Association, said drugs such as anti-depressants might be sold without verification.

"As per the draft regulations, online pharmacies come under the Central Drug Controller and the State bodies have no control over them. While inspections are conducted frequently in physical stores by Drug Inspectors, the draft regulations say an authorised person would inspect the online pharma portals once in two years. This will only add to loopholes. Besides, there is no mechanism in e-pharmacies to cross check the genuineness of a prescription. We oppose the same," said Jeevan.

Chemists are also opposing discounts offered by online portals (up to 60% on certain drugs). "As per rulebook, up to 16% discount on maximum retail price is allowed. But e-pharmacies are offering over and above this," said pharmacists.

Authorities at Karnataka State Drug Controller's Office said they will appeal to chemists not to go on a protest. "We will call for a meeting with them shortly and appeal to them to withdraw the protest," said officials. However, all pharmacies connected to hospitals, nursing homes and emergency outlets will function normally, said members of the Association.

Woes of Apartment residents

Sir,

The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) civic workers have not collected garbage for the last one week in residential apartments in and around Siddartha Layout. MCC has come up with the order that garbage will not be collected even if segregated from establishments with 5,000 sq. m area or greater area. The same is to decomposed within the premises which is a good thought but at implementation level the same is being forced on even residential apartments irrespective of its area.

Some of the apartments in Mysuru have no extra space nor a garden which can take on the extra space required for decomposition and setting up of biogas plant. The cost involved in the same also has not been taken into consideration.

The biogas plant even if started will have its byproducts and residues which need to be cleared periodically. The MCC has not given any kind of support or thought to these factors, which need to be looked into before implementation of the idea for its successful functioning.

Can MCC In-charge of each Zone hold a meeting with the members of the apartments in their area to first of all understand the practicality of implementing the idea, then work towards practical ground-level implementation, instead of issuing directions and stopping garbage collection causing inconvenience and unhygienic condition?

Two persons transporting Star Tortoises arrested

Accused Nazir & Riyaz

Hunsur, Sept. 21 (Raghu&KS) - Hunsur Police, on Sept. 18, have arrested two persons on charges of transporting Star Tortoises illegally in their car. The Cops who have seized the car have recovered the tortoises kept in a bag.

On Sept. 18 at about 1 pm, Hunsur Circle Inspector K.C. Poovaiah and staff were conducting checking of documents of vehicles on Hunsur-Virajpet main road near Kalla Betta junction in the taluk, when they noticed a red coloured car (KL-59-Q-6147) coming from Virajpet side.

On seeing the Police, the driver of the car took a U turn which gave rise to doubts to the Police, who chased the car and stopped it. When the Cops asked for the documents of the car, Nazir and Riyaz of Kerala, who were in the car failed to produce the same and were unable to give a convincing statement.

On inspecting the car, Inspector Poovaiah found a bag with Star Tortoises in it. On enquiry, the Cops came to know that the duo were taking the tortoises to sell for higher price.

The Police, then arrested the two, seized the car and recovered the tortoises. A case was registered and the accused were produced before the Court.

Hunsur Circle Inspector K.C. Poovaiah and staff Antony Cruz, K.S. Lingarajappa, Mahadevaswamy, Prasad, Mohan Kumar and Jeep driver Nagesh took part in the operation.

Stone mining threat to KRS Dam

I have no objection to stop mining, says Mandya District Minister

Mandya, Sept. 21- Mandya District Minister C.S. Puttaraju has stated that he has already directed the District authorities to take steps to curb illegal mining at Chinnakurali, Baby Betta Kaval, Amrutha Mahal Kaval, Honaganahalli, Bastipura, Beechanakuppe, Avverahalli and Bannangadi.

Puttaraju

He was reacting to Star of Mysore report published yesterday under the title 'Stone Mining at Baby Betta: Threat to safety of KRS' where it was highlighted how stone quarrying activities at Baby Betta Reserve Forests in Pandavapura Taluk is posing great danger to Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam.

The report mentioned how the quarries are operating illegally in the reserve forests without even paying the mandatory taxes and royalty to the State Government, causing a huge loss to the exchequer.

Puttaraju said, "KRS is the lifeline of Mandya district and safeguarding it is our duty. If KRS faces any threat, Mandya will be affected the most and we cannot shrug off our responsibilities here. If the stone quarrying and mining is indeed threatening the KRS, I have no objection to stop all mining activities," he said.

Continuing, the Minister said that as per the reports submitted by the geologists and officials from Mines and Geology Department to him, there was no threat to KRS due to mining. "All the complaints and applications filed by RTI activists these days are misleading. Certain vested interests are working against the wishes of people and are misguiding them," he said.

Puttaraju added that he had already directed the District Administration and the Police to take action against illegal mining.

Over a cup of evening Tea

By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD

Gunning for 'Gun House' once again!

Yesterday evening as I was turning the pages of SOM to scan the headlines, I literally jumped out of my skin in excitement upon stumbling on the news that the Gun House Imperial Restaurant that used to once function from the Palace Gun House was soon going to throw its doors open once again to customers after a gap of thirty long years. I do not know what this bit of news is going to mean to other people but to me it perhaps is the beginning of the coming true of a long cherished dream and the end of a sense of anguish that had been gnawing at my heart strings ever since the hotel suddenly shut its doors without as much as a hint that it was going out of business.

A view of the Gun House Imperial Restaurant.

My first memory of this once very beautiful landmark of our city is from the early sixties when I used to go there once a year in the company of Prof. M. Salar Masood, the younger brother of my maternal grandfather Alhaj M. Khaleelur Rahman. He was a Professor of Geography at Manasagangothri and it was he who usually took all the children of the large household on frequent excursions to the Palace, the Jagan Mohan Art Gallery, the Zoo, the Brindavan Gardens and Srirangapatna.

The large household that I am talking about was more of a hostel than a home as at any given time it used to have at least a dozen children of all shapes, sizes and ages! This was the result of my grandfather's penchant for inviting all his relatives, especially those from the Malnad areas, to leave their children under his care here in Mysuru for their education. That is how I became an inmate of this warm and cozy nest of immeasurable happiness when I joined the Good Shepherd Convent School in the year 1960.

Our visits to the Palace Gun House used to be an annual affair to watch the ceremonial firing of the canons housed there to mark the beginning of the Dasara festivities. It used to be a very exciting moment with all of us expectantly staring with unblinking eyes at the red-turbaned guard on horseback at the Southern Gate of the Palace. Upon a cue from the Durbar Commandant that the Maharaja had arrived, he would raise the red flag which used to be the signal for the head of the battery to shout "Fire" at the top of his voice. That was when the gunners in green tunics and red turbans would start touching the firing holes of their loaded canons with smouldering wicks in a sequence. The almost blinding orange flash would be accompanied by a deafening boom followed by a thick cloud of acrid black smoke that I would find intoxicating!

The batch of seven cannons would be reloaded twice to complete the volley of the twenty-one shots that had to be fired for the occasion. And, this reloading had to be done only after thoroughly rinsing the barrels with cold water and brushing them dry once again. This precaution was most essential to ensure that there were no traces of smouldering gunpowder inside that could prematurely set off the powder charge the moment it was rammed down the barrel!

Somewhere down the years, for some inexplicable reason, these seven cannons along with their four accompanying ox-drawn powder carriages were shifted to the long verandah of the Palace where they now stand all through the year except when they are taken to the Bannimantap Grounds on Vijayadashami Day for the breathtaking Torchlight Parade that is undoubtedly the pride of our annual Dasara!

Now, it is not just for the annual firing of the cannons that the Palace Gun House had become dear to me. Long after the show had stopped there and well after I had grown up into a man from the school boy that I was, I found myself drawn to it for a completely different reason. Very soon after I joined the Mysore Medical College to do my MD in Medicine the Mysore royal family converted the place into a restaurant. Because of its unique ambience and the excellent food it served, most of our unit get-together and dinners used to take place there. Then, when I got married, soon after passing my MD, it also became the favourite dining-out place for me and my wife, especially on every Saturday evening!

Incidentally, on the days when my practice was unusually good, I would invariably take her to the Metropole Hotel, which was again in a building that was once a royal Guest House. These two places were the ones that served the best chilli chicken and egg fried rice, which accompanied by some chilled Torino and the timelessness of each others' company was nothing but pure Nirvana for the two of us!

Gun House also had a live band where Sebastian Deniz, my favourite singer, used to perform with his fellow musicians on weekends. Fondly known to all as 'Singing Seby,' he knew all my favourite Jim Reeves and Frank Sinatra numbers so well that without the slightest need to be told he would start singing them the moment he would see us walking in! He had a voice that could make even unwilling hearts melt which was why perhaps we used to see so many boys taking their still undecided lady loves there for dinner!

Along with Seby's voice the irresistible chilli chicken too perhaps played its part in breaking down any remaining traces of indecision and resistance to the proposals they made! So when the magical Gun House suddenly shut shop, it was sudden heartbreak for my wife and me and ever since then it has always been a bitter-sweet experience to drive past it. Sweetness from the warm recollection of the almost magical time we once had there and bitterness that it was the end of an era that was so dear to us! Hopefully, the clock is now all set to turn back and the good old days of our nostalgia are poised to come back once again!

Mysuru, Sept. 21- World Rhino Day is celebrated to create awareness regarding the well-being of Rhinoceros. In recent years, Rhinos have been threatened by poaching, urbanisation and pollution, which have left Rhino species on the brink of extinction.

At the start of the 20th century, 5,00,000 Rhinos roamed the wild, by 1970 the worldwide population fell to 70,000, today only 29,000 Rhinos survive in the wild.

GTD asks VCs, Registrars to stop wasting time at Vidhana Soudha corridors

Bengaluru, Sept. 21 - Vice-Chancellors and Registrars of State Universities have been told to henceforth take the Higher Education Department's permission in case they are visiting Vidhana Soudha, unless it is for some official work.

This comes after several complaints were received against some of the VCs, Registrars and other Varsity officials often roaming the corridors of Vidhana Soudha. Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) has now directed the Department Principal Secretary to issue a circular asking the officials not to visit Vidhana Soudha unless it is for official work. If they are to visit the Soudha without any official work, they should inform the Department about the reason.

GTD said, "I have received several complaints about VCs and Registrars visiting Soudha and even my office unnecessarily. Taking this seriously, I have asked them to concentrate on academic developments at the Universities instead and not to hang around Vidhana Soudha when there are no official meetings."

According to sources in the Minister's Office, some VCs often visit Soudha regarding transfers of Registrars at their Varsities while some even try and lobby for aspirants of Syndicate Member posts.

Attendance must for Registrar-rank Officials: Henceforth, if Officials of the rank of Registrar step out of their Office, they must make entries in the log book as well as on the biometric system. So far, there was no log book maintained for Registrars and other officials of their rank.

"But now, the Registrars must enter their movements in a log book. If they are going out of the campus, it should be entered along with the reason," the Minister said. The Minister has been receiving complaints about VCs and Registrars misusing their office and official vehicles.

According to sources, one of the complaints against a University Registrar states that the person used the official vehicle to attend a political event of a former CM at Badami.

Second Satellite Railway Terminal at Naganahalli

Villagers convinced, decks cleared for land acquisition

Mysuru, Sept. 21 (RK&BCT)- The much needed construction of the Second Satellite Railway Terminal for Mysuru at Naganahalli village, which was first announced in the Budget for 2018-19 and reiterated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi during his visit to city seven months ago, hinges on land acquisition.

The project requires a minimum of 370 to 400 acres of land and the onus is on the State Government to pursue it and expedite the process. A meeting was held this morning at Naganahalli Railway Station to resolve the issue of land acquisition, compensation and related issues with the land owners and villagers.

MP Pratap Simha, who represents the Centre, Higher Education and Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda, who represents the State Government, Additional Divisional Railway Manager Ajay Sinha chaired the meeting that was attended by Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, Assistant Commissioner Shivegowda and Tahsildar T. Ramesh Babu. A host of Railway and Revenue officials too attended the meeting.

The villagers were represented by Naganahalli Gram Panchayat President Chaitra and Zilla Panchayat member Dinesh. Over 500 villagers attended the meeting. The Naganahalli Satellite Railway Terminal project is envisaged to cost Rs. 789.29 crore and the cost per acre of agricultural land around Naganahalli is around Rs. 1 crore to Rs. 1.5 crore.

The meeting was held to clear apprehensions of the villagers regarding land acquisition and compensation for land losers. Naganahalli is around 10 kms from Mysuru Railway Station. Villagers were apprehensive that the entire village of Naganahalli will be levelled for the terminal.

Clearing their doubts, MP Pratap Simha said that the Satellite Terminal will begin at Lakshmipuram and will cover the west of Naganahalli beyond 600 metres of the Naganahalli Railway Station. Further, it will cover a distance of two kilometres till Siddalingapura, he said.

Addressing the villagers, G.T. Devegowda said that the project cost of Rs. 789.29 crore includes land acquisition costs. "We need about 400 acres of land at Naganahalli and surrounding areas and DC, revenue officials have been asked not to accord permission to alienate lands. We will ensure that the compensation will be higher than the prevailing rates," he said. The Minister assured that one member of the land loser's family will get employment.

On their part, the villagers demanded better prices for the land as it is well irrigated and fertile and their lives depended on the crops cultivated. Both Pratap Simha and G.T. Devegowda assured of better prices, employment and the development of entire Naganahalli as a Satellite City.

The proposal for a second railway terminal was first mooted in 2007 and has taken 11 years for the same to make it to the Pink Book' (a registry detailing all approved projects and allocations made) of Indian Railways.

The objective behind the satellite Terminal Station at Naganahalli is to decongest the existing facility in the city to ensure the movement of additional trains and provide better service to passengers, besides introduction of new trains to enhance connectivity.

The existing Mysuru station at present handles 70 trains per day and its capacity was saturated. The satellite terminal can take care of the projected 10 percent growth in the passenger traffic in Mysuru for the next 25 years. (With inputs from UNI)

This year, the State Government had announced that the exhibition will be inaugurated along with Dasara festivities on Oct. 10 and would remain open till December-end. The government had also mooted a grand plan of converting the Dasara Exhibition Grounds into a round-the-clock and all-year exhibition and events.

Accordingly, tenders were floated and Wednesday and Sept. 19 was the last day for the exhibitors to present their tenders. But the Exhibition Authority has not got a single tender for entry tickets, parking lot fee, entertainment section and the 136 commercial stalls. A tender amount of Rs. 6,99,30,000 was fixed this year.

As there are no takers for tenders, a worried Exhibition Authority has decided to repeat the tender process and call for fresh applications. This time it will be a short-term tender. One of the reasons for the lack of interest on the part of exhibitors is the threat of flooding. Exhibitors do not want a repeat of last year where they incurred huge losses, sources told Star of Mysore.

Last year, a tender amount of Rs. 6.66 crore was fixed and Bengaluru-based Fun World had bagged it. It remains to be seen if any company comes forward to take the tender or will the Exhibition Authority itself conduct the exhibition.

Reacting on this, Karnataka Exhibition Authority CEO N.M Shashikumar told SOM that last year's water-logging at Exhibition Grounds might be one of the reasons for exhibitors not taking any interest in this year's tenders.

"We can't rule out this possibility as we had got a lot of tender enquiries but no one has so far applied for tenders. Last year, the big drain was blocked on Nanjangud Road due to some civic works. Due to this, rain water flowed back to the exhibition grounds. Now there is no such problem," he said.

As per the government plans, there will be 34 government stalls (basically information stalls and not commercial) to disseminate information about government schemes and programmes. Accordingly, the Exhibition Authority had written letters to all Zilla Panchayats (ZPs) in Karnataka, inviting them to participate in the exhibition. The communication was sent to ZPs on July 31 and Sept. 14.

While a handful of the ZPs responded, most of them preferred to stay away, As such, works are on to build only seven government stalls (out of the targeted 34) at the exhibition grounds. This is a good development according to Shashikumar. He is hopeful that many ZPs will come forward to set up stalls in a couple of days.

Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda, who is also the Mysuru District Minister, recently held a meeting with Vice-Chancellors of various universities and asked them to set up stalls that highlight their achievements in the field of higher education. The idea behind the meeting was to spread information on the education sector and attract the youth crowd.

Following the Minister's meeting, a separate section has been reserved for the universities to set up stalls at the expo grounds. But so far, no university has come forward to set up stalls and they have not even communicated about the possibility of setting up education stalls.

When asked about this, Shashikumar is optimistic that as there are 20 more days for the Dasara to be inaugurated, stalls will be established in the due course. There might be many last-minute entries, he hoped.

"We will again call for tenders and open them on Sept. 28. If there is no response, we will hold a meeting on Sept. 28 to chalk out future strategy. If there are no takers, we will have to run the expo ourselves. We have to ask independent amusement park organisers in Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Andhra Pradesh to set up the Amusement Park," he added.

Sumptuous lunch for Mahouts, Kavadis

Mysuru, Sept.21 (MTY&NNN)- Mysuru Palace Board had organised a sumptuous lunch for Mahouts, Kavadis and their families, who are in-charge of the 12 Dasara elephants. Nearly 500 people savoured tasty food.

The mouth-watering menu consisted Karjura (date) payasa, bele holige with ghee, akki rotti, ennegai, chutney, methi pulav, mosuru bajji, huralikalu soppina palya, beans-carrot palya, sweet corn-pomegranate kosambri, pudi pakoda, rice, hurali kattu, rasam, papad, pickle and ice cream.

The Palace Board also distributed toys, cricket bats, balls and carom board to children of Mahouts and Kavadis.

A pendal was erected between Kodi Somashwara Temple and Trineshwara Temple in the Palace premises.

MLAs S.A. Ramdas, Harshavardhan, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar Deputy, ZP Chief Executive Officer Jyothi, Deputy Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) Sidaramppa Chalkapure, Veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraj, Mysuru Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya, ACP Shailendra and others were present.

15 arrested for assault on Tahsildar at relief centre

Madikeri, Sept. 21 (PS&DM)- Kushalnagar Police have arrested 15 persons, including two women, in connection with the assault on Somwarpet Tahsildar Mahesh at a relief centre in Kushalnagar town on Tuesday night (Sept.18).

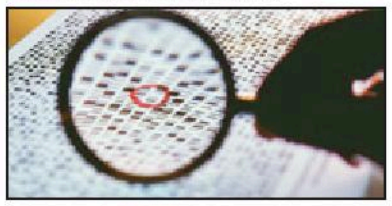
WORD OF THE DAY

Enigmatic

Pronunciation: en-ig-MAT-ik



Meaning: Relating to, or resembling an enigma ; difficult to interpret or understand; mysterious.
Origin: An enigma is a puzzle, a riddle, a mystery. The adjective enigmatic describes what is hard to solve or figure out. An enigmatic person is someone who is a bit mysterious to others. Behind an enigmatic smile are thoughts impossible to guess. The word enigma originally referred not to people or smiles but to words, and specifically to words that formed a riddle or a complicated metaphor that tested one's alertness and cleverness. This meaning is clearly connected to the word's origin. Enigma comes from the Greek word ainissesthai, meaning "to speak in riddles."
Example: After I did a little research, the subject of metaphysics was no longer so enigmatic to me.

THE ODD WORD

Abomasum

The fourth stomach of a ruminant, such as a cow or sheep.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Keep the wolf from the door

Meaning: To have sufficient money to prevent starvation or hunger; to do something that lets one to escape death by small margin; defend against financial or starvation devastation.

Origin: There are various origin stories regarding where the phrase was first used. None of them can be substantiated but it is clear that the phrase has been in use since the 1500s. It can be equated to the fact that a wolf is often depicted as a ravenous beast. Thus, if you need to keep the wolf from the door you need to protect your family. One theory is that if you are able to provide for your family there will be scraps left for the wolves to eat and this will keep them happy. As soon as the scraps dry up they will come to your door in search of food. The phrase was originally "keep the wolf from the gate" but has evolved into the phrase that we use today. An example of the phrase was used by John Hardyng as early as 1543. It can be found in the Chronicle of John Hardyng,"By whiche he maye the wolf werre frome the gate ...". Examples of the wolf being a destructive force dates to the Bible. Matthew 10:16,"Behold I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves."
